FINLAND PREPARES TO DEFEND COUNTRY AGAINST SOVIETS

Populace Warned To Prepare For "All Eventualities and Dangers of War"

EVACUATING THE CITIES

Finnish Troops Take Up Strategic Positions Along The Frontier

HELSINGFORS, Oct. 11.—(INS)—Taking drastic military precautions against a possible sudden Soviet attack, Finland's government prepared today to defend its independence against the threat of expanding Soviet Russian domination of the eastern Baltic region.

Minister of Interior-U. K. Kkkonen warned the populace to prepare for "all eventualities and all dangers of modern warfare," which he said necessitated evacuation of civilians from Helsingfors, Viborg, Abo and Tammenfors.

Thousands of residents of these cities heeded the warning and fled to safer rural areas.

Large detachments of Finnish troops took up strategic positions along the Russo-Finnish frontier. Finnish warships gathered at the port of Abo, ready to defend the Aland Islands, which Moscow is believed to covet.

ACCEPTANCES POUR IN FOR BIG PARADE

Telegrams, Air Mail and Special Delivery Bring Entries

ALREADY A MILE LONG

Bristol's gigantic Armistice Day celebration parade is already a mile long—and official entries have just begun to roll in!

Competing units are fighting for positions in the line of march in the parade in their efforts to get their acceptances to Bristol as early as possible.

Position in the line of march is determined by the order of acceptances returned to Bristol. Air mail letters and special delivery letters have been used by some units to assure them leading positions in the parade.

The affair, scheduled for the afternoon of November 11th, in Bristol, as a part of the Americanization program sponsored by the Robert W. Bracken Post, is expected to draw outstanding units from Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Already the Pennsylvania State Champions have sent in their acceptance.

An acceptance, sent air mail, assures the Public Service Southern Division Senior American Legion Bugle and Drum Corps, Camden, N. J., Continued on Page Three

Summer Works Overtime

(By "The Stroller")
"I don't care if it stays this warm until Christmas and then gets hotter!" exclaimed a friend of ours the other day, who readily admitted he hates cold weather, and would like to spend the next few months in a warmer climate.

And we note that the man of the house who pays the cold bills isn't growling; and neither are the kids who have stolen a march on October by getting a few extra swims while the thermometer hob-nobs in the 80's.

Hitler Advances Offensive

By H. R. Knickerbocker

Paris, Oct. 11.—Adolf Hitler has advanced his chief offensive.

He has ordered preparation to recapture at any price the terrain in front of the Siegfried line now occupied by French troops.

Thereby he intends to "retrieve Germany's honor" which is injured by the presence of the French troops on German soil.

But he also wishes to keep as many French as possible to positions along the Maginot line, while his principal attack goes around the wing through Holland, Belgium and Switzerland.

This information comes from an anti-Nazi intelligence service, operating in a neutral country. This service, though obviously biased, has distinguished itself in the past by the accuracy and speed of its information.

The service gives its reports in the following manner:

"Hitler issued general direction to the army dated October 9:
1. Hence the democracies have shown themselves unyielding, and since the honor of the German army has been impugned through occupation of part of the Saarbrücken and Polatin, I hereby order:

"Reconstruction of plans advanced on Siegfried line at any price. Commanders will keep me constantly informed of the progress of their preparations for attack.

2. The attacks shall be accomplished through four armies from the direction of Saarberg, Saarbrücken, Pirmasens and Landau, with the goal the advanced terrain in front of the Siegfried line.

3. At the same time preparations shall be expedited to make a strong attack over Holland and Sweden and to attack over the Rhine and over Friedberg. These preparations shall be effected by the time the advanced terrain in front of the Siegfried line has been reoccupied."

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

"Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc."

Why Not Ask Congress?

Washington, Oct. 10. THE almost complete absence of comment concerning the Roosevelt recent announcement that he had, in effect, directed the War and Navy departments to disregard the law against budgetary deficits and make unauthorized expenditures to meet the latest expansion which he had directed, is significant of what the war psychology does to a democratic country even when not at war and not going to war.

ALTHOUGH there seems a very remote chance that we will be involved in the present conflict, the President seems already to have begun to exercise war powers, to shove aside constitutional and statutory law and to proceed on the theory that the "limited emergency" (a thing unknown to the law, but proclaimed by him) justifies executive action not authorized by the statutes. In this case, clearly he did a thing he had no right to do. The fact not only that he could do it, but could do it with hardly a protesting voice being raised, is significant.

IT is calculated to make one ask if this kind of thing can be done under the cloak of a "limited emergency," what limit, if any, would there be to the executive power, if the emergency became real? The facts of this instance are exceedingly simple. The President, as was, perhaps, right and proper, ordered an additional increase in the personnel of the army, navy and Marine Corps. After the order is issued, he is told by the War Department that there are no funds to take care of the

Appropriate $8,433 To Bucks County Student Aid

In a statement released by Walter S. Cowing, NYA State Youth Administrator for Pennsylvania, Bucks County has been allotted $8,433.00 as its share of Student-Aid funds for the 1939-1940 school term to aid needy high school students in the county continue their education.

These funds, according to Mr. Cowing, are not to be confused with gifts or scholarships as they are only disbursed to students whose actual need is established and who must work for the funds they receive. This work is planned and supervised by the school principals, with special effort being made to assign each student to tasks consistent with the course of study being followed.

The work done by students receiving Student-Aid includes acting as faculty aides, laboratory assistants, clerical helpers, repairing school furniture, and improving school grounds. The amount of wages paid is from $4 to $6 a month.

The total appropriation for the new school year for the State for Student-Aid in colleges, graduate schools and high schools is $1,948,183 as compared with a $1,635,725 allotment for last year.

NYA aided students must be between the ages of 16 and 24. Applications for Student-Aid should be made directly to the school in which the applicant is interested in enrolling.

POPKIN FILES MOTION FOR A NEW TRIAL

Bristol Merchant Says He Acted Only As Accommodation Endorser

NEVER REC'D ANY CASH

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 11.—A verdict was returned yesterday in the case of R. W. Doty, successor to Irland McK. Beckman, secretary of Banking, receiver of the Cornwells State Bank, against Abe Popkin, Bristol. The verdict for the plaintiff was $596.36.

Counsel for the defendant, Popkin, was I. Louis Rubin, Bristol, who filed a motion for a new trial.

The jury was composed of 11 men and one woman, the case being tried before President Judge Hiram H. Keller in Bucks County civil court.

Popkin was the only witness appearing for the defense, while the four called by the plaintiff were Charles Little, Richard W. Fechtenburg, Henry Winkelspeck and Popkin.

Mr. Popkin states that he did not receive any money in the transaction but merely acted as an "accommodation endorser" for John F. Smoyer, Bristol. Mr. Popkin stated that he always meets his obligations and pays his just debts.

The defense offered in the case was purely of a technical nature, the case involving a promissory note. It was brought out that on December 24, 1931, William D. Gordon, then Continued on Page Four

HAMBURG ON BROADWAY

The reasons for the present sad state of the theater in its producing center are as many as there are apologists and explainers. Here we are, right in the middle of what used to be the busiest season in show business, and what have we? Most of the Broadway theaters are locked in darkness, dust gathers on stage and proscenium and seats. Of the scores of famous showhouses along the Great White Way and its pursues, only a dozen or so will open their doors tonight. The few that are awake house old familiarities of last season or previous seasons.
Plays which have withstood all opposition. As to what that opposition is, no two experts' opinions agree.
Is it the weather or the war or the World's Fair or the gasoline tax or the movies or the radio or maybe even the worthlessness of most of the stage offerings?

Anyway, whatever the reason, the fact remains that Broadway right now is close to the nadir, at a time when it should be all twitter and booming. It is comforting to know that strenuous efforts are being made to revive interest in the theater.

One of the meager dozen of Broadway houses to switch on the lights tonight is the Biltmore, in which one may see See My Lawyer, produced by George Abbott, right now the liveliest of the lot. Within the next two weeks George Abbott will bring into New York another show, the title of which is Too Many Girls, and he has on the fire two other plays, a Gladys Hurlbut comedy, and a drama by Ayn Rand. If one or more of these productions turns out to be a hit, Broadway and the theatrical world of America will be indebted to Hamburg, in a geographical sense—for George Abbott's home town is Hamburg, New York.

This is as good a time as any to celebrate the contributions of George Abbott to the American stage of the present day. His productions without exception have been distinguished among the offerings of the theatrical producers for their good clean fun, expert direction and an smooth performance and an atmosphere of warmth and hilarity and simplicity all too rare in these roily times.

PRICE CURB PLEDGED

Utilizing war psychology to make excess profits is a practice which has been condemned not only by public opinion but also by many organizations of industrialists, merchants and workers. The new groups to go on record against the danger of unwarranted price kiting are the Producers Council of the National Association of Manufacturers of Building Materials and Appliances, and the American Institute of Architects.

The council, supporting the program recently announced by the National Association of Manufacturers, has adopted a resolution pledging its members to oppose profiteering or undue price increases under the conditions brought about by the war in Europe.

The builders and buyers of home make up one of the most important elements in the economy and development of the nation. Profiteering in this field would be a menace to the country's business.

What for a 1950 desk calendar.

housing, hospitalization, reconditioning, etc., incidental to the expansion.

THE law prohibits these expenditures unless authorized by Congress. There is an express legal prohibition against budgetary deficits growing out of unauthorized expenditures. Nevertheless, the President directs the army, navy and marine authorities to make the expenditures. He does this after first "informally" discussing the matter with Controller General Fred H. Brown, who suggested to the President that he be not asked for a "formal" ruling. And then Mr. Roosevelt reveals that he took two justices of the Supreme Bench — Justice Frankfurter and Justice Stone — down the Potomac on his yacht and told them what he was doing. What, if any, advice the justices gave him, Mr. Roosevelt did not say, but he certainly went ahead.

IT is not proposed here to raise any question as to the propriety of a President discussing with members of the bench a question involving legislative powers which they may have to pass upon. Mr.
Roosevelt when he was Governor always thought it proper for the Executive to send for the judges and talk over such things with them. It was one of the things he did at Albany and one of the things he resented not being able to do when he got to Washington.

BUT that is not the point raised by his action. That point is why, instead of "informally" conferring with the Controller General and talking to two justices of the Supreme Bench, he did not adopt the simple, natural and legal method of going straight to Congress and getting authorization for the expenditures. He could reach Congress in fifteen minutes. Under existing conditions, he could get that authorization from Congress without difficulty. All he had to do was present his case. Instead, Mr. Roosevelt, as Congressman John Taber, of New York, asserts, chose "to ignore the simple, straightforward, legal way." Instead, Mr. Taber says, he chose to "flout the law and the Constitution in the hope that the Congress when it meets next January will legalize then what he has done illegally now."

There is no question here of the merit of the appropriation. The increase in the personnel probably is fully justified, and the expenditures necessary. That isn't the question. The question is the procedure followed by Mr. Roosevelt in dealing with this matter. In this case he has avoided and evaded the natural and the legal way, adopted an illegal and unnatural way of gaining his end. It is a dangerous precedent he has established — this business of shoving aside the law and taking responsibility of going ahead regardless.
There is nothing in the "limited emergency" to justify that sort of thing and it ought not to be let go by without more to a protest than that made by Mr. Taber.

THAT his was the only voice raised against this unprecedented Presidential exercise of illegal power is an indication of how completely the "war psychology" and this "support the President" stuff has anesthetized the critical faculty. If the President can do this sort of thing when it is not at all necessary there does seem some justification for those who feel that he would deeply enjoy getting along without Congress at all.

ON THE SCREENS

BRISTOL THEATRE

Those loveable, funny "Fitches."

who made their screen debut in "Boy Trouble," are back again in a new family comedy which is even truer to life than its predecessor. The title is "Night Work," and it opens today at the Bristol Theatre, with that grand team, Mary Boland and Charlie Ruggles, cast again, of course, as the heads of the "Fitch" family, and Donald O'Connor playing "Butch," one of the boys to whom the "Fitches" gave a home in the first picture of the series.

As the story gets under way, Charlie is seen taking over as manager of a large, deluxe apartment house. Charlie immediately has trouble with the staff, who are far from impressed by his mild, meek manner.

GRAND THEATRE

A significant drama of small town life in an average American village, "Career," comes to the Grand Theatre today with a notable featured cast including Anne Shirley, Edward Ellis, and the "Gateway to Hollywood" finalists, Alice Eden and John Archer.

"Career," deals with the complex affairs of a small Iowa town in 1931. Ellis, a kindly old store-keeper and leading merchant of the community, is concerned about the state of the nation and the condition of the town bank.

The banker's daughter and Ellis' son and the banker's weakling son and another girl form the romantic elements. However, the banker's wife is the girl Ellis himself was in love with when he was a young man, although he married another girl later.

RITZ THEATRE

Once winner of the Motion Picture Arts and Sciences Award for fine acting, and lauded for his great characterizations on the screen, Victor McLaglen stars in his latest production, Universal's "Ex-Champ," which comes today to the Ritz Theatre.

McLaglen is noted for the rugged characterizations he enacts for the cameras. In "Ex-Champ" he appears as a broken-down, ex-champion prize-fighter, proud of two possessions. They are a championship belt, and a worthless, snobbish son who disdains his father's home and his rough and tough associates.

Although "Ex-Champ" has an atmosphere of the boxing ring and training quarters, it cannot be regarded as a prize-fight story. It deals primarily with the sacrifice McLaglen makes to attempt to save the son.

NEWTOWN BLUEBELLES UPSET BENSALEM OWLETS; SCORE 1-0

NEWTOWN GIRLS ARE VICTORS BY THE SCORE OF 1-0

Bluebelles Dominated Play In The Entire First Half

GOAL SCORED IN SECOND

Bensalem Girls Were Completely Outplayed by Opponents

NEWTOWN, Oct. 11.—The Bensalem Owlets were "building up to an awful let-down" when they posted a 2-1 decision over the Buckingham Doggirls, twice champions of the Lower Bucks Hockey League, last week.

And an awful letdown is what they got out of their scrap with the Newtown Bluebelles, who nipped the Owlets, 1-0, in a league fray here yesterday afternoon.

The Bluebelles dominated play in the first half most of which was played in Bensalem territory. It took a good pass by Edith Stuhltrager to Eleanor Hughes to enable to Owlets to escape without being scored on in the first 15 minutes of the game. Hughes took the ball up to the forward line who held it in possession when the half ended shortly afterwards.

Newtown counted its lone goal—the only one of the game—midway in the second half, the result of a penalty when Thelma Vandegrift picked the ball up in front of the goal and tossed it away. With the two teams lined up in a semi-circle outside the goal area, Vandegrift and Joanne Gallagher, Newtown center forward, had a "pace-off" two yards out from the goal and directly in front of it. Gallagher won the little argument as the ball skidded off her stick and directly through the middle of the goal.

Bensalem took the mid-field pace off and the forward line went up the field with the ball. But after taking it deep into alien territory, they were too slow to follow up on a long shot, and a Newtown fullback drove the ball out to the sidelines and out of bounds. After the throw-in another scrimmage ensued in front of Newtown's goal and the game ended.

The Bluebelles by far outplayed Bensalem and deserved the victory, a token of gratitude to their new coach. The tilt was played under warm sunny skies which cut the duration of the game down from 20 minute halves to 15 minutes each.

YVONE ROBERT TO CLASH WITH JOE COX TONIGHT

TRENTON, Oct. 11.—Yvone Robert, handsome and colorful French-Canadian wrestler, and Joe Cox, Missouri dynamiter, will clash in the feature bout on Johnny Ipp's weekly mat party at the Arena. It will be a best two fall out of three, one hour time limit match.

This encounter is one of the most important ever brought to the local wrestling arena by Ipp. Both Cox and Robert are two of the finest campaigners in the sport and their meeting should be one of the most interesting and exciting ever witnessed here.

Cox came through with a sensational win last week over Joe Dusek in as wild and hectic battle ever fought here. The fans were on their feet throughout the entire combat and the front row patrons were busy scampering away from the ring to avoid the flying bodies of the gladiators.

Robert is the smoothest grappler ever to perform at the Arena and he is a prime favorite with the fans.

Abe Yourist, who came through with a popular win last week over Raoul Lopez, will tangle with Rudy Dusek, eldest of the famed Nebraska wrestling family. Tommy Rae, who surprised everybody by holding the great Gino Garibaldi to a draw, will face Eddie Cook, and Stanley Pinto, the veteran forearm slugger, will tangle with Mark Halsey, flashy westerner.

The first bout will start at 8.30 p. m.

Secretary of Banking of Pennsylvania, took possession of the business and property of Cornwells State Bank. On December 14th, that year, it was stated John E. Smoyer, Bristol, made his promissory note payable one month after the date to the said bank in the sum of $625, and delivered the same to Abe Popkin, who endorsed it, and delivered it to the bank. Smoyer did not pay the note when due, it was protested. It was brought out that the defendant has failed to pay the note, and suit was brought to recover the sum of $612.49, balance of the principal with interest and protest fees.

A verdict for $130.30 in favor of the plaintiff was returned Monday in the case of Morris J. Roberts against Robert M. Hallowell. The case was an appeal from the decision of a Justice of the Peace and was tried in Judge Calvin S. Boyer's court.

Trial started Tuesday in the case of Margaret Hottel, now Margaret Hottel Beers against Josephine Elizabeth Hottel and George Thumert Hottel, in Judge Boyer's Court.
